This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REVIEWS OF THIS WORK.

"This book is very painstaking, and those who are frequently puzzled in the spelling of the participles will find the work invaluable. We cordially recommend this book."

Weekly Times, 4th September, 1853.

"The best educated will not reject this 'Dictionary Appendix' as a study companion; and those also whose education is only in progress, will find it an excellent help. The inflections of the verbs are often very perplexing. Here, in all difficult words, they will be found at a glance, which will save many a precious moment.

"Rules are given for spelling the participles of verbs, and such words as are not found in the dictionary. The rules are only ten, and so constructed, that seven of them are without a single exception: the other three (first, sixth and eighth) contain every one of the exceptions, which renders the work at once simple and comprehensive.

"The plan of the work may be indicated by a single word, 'ballot, balloted, balloting.' Opposite the word will be found the figure 6, which points to the rule by which the spelling is determined.

"We give this work our hearty recommendation."

Evangelical Magazine for October, 1853.

"This valuable work may truly be called the 'Dictionary Appendix,' supplying as it does upwards of 7000 words not to be found in any dictionaries in use. This very fact alone must commend it to general use."

Church Gazette, 4th April, 1854.

REVIEWS OF THIS WORK.

"This 'Dictionary Appendix,' which contains upwards of 7000 words not found in the dictionaries, is compiled with extraordinary industry. It will be found to be a necessary companion to the dictionary—as necessary as 'Walker' himself."

The Critic, 15*th February*, 1854.

"The greatest utility of this work consists in its defining the spelling of participles, many of which were not a little puzzling. They are either given at length, or reduced to a simple rule, by which we may be certain of determining their orthography. Mr. Vines has done good service to his country in the compilation of this volume. In fact, it is so well done, and so extremely useful, that it ought to obtain general circulation, and to be at the elbow of every one who wishes to write accurately."

The Literary Argus for February, 1854.

PREFACE.

This book contains upwards of seven thousand words not found in the dictionary, but which, at the same time, appear necessary to render the dictionary complete; and therefore it is called the "Dictionary Appendix." The words run thus, "Infer, inferred, inferring, 5;" the figure at the end refers to the fifth rule at the beginning of the work, which explains why the word is so spelled; and these rules are so plain, that an uneducated person can understand them.

Every one who has been accustomed to write a letter has felt the need of a work like the present; but as nothing of the kind was ever published, writers have been obliged to labour under continued inconvenience from the want of it.

It is well known, that although the dictionaries contain the verbs, they do not give the participles; and there is often so much difficulty in spelling them, that even persons of good education frequently feel at a loss, and for want of a book of reference commit themselves by misspelling them: as, for instance, the word or verb beg will be found in the dictionary; but not the participles begged, and begging, also the verb drop, but not dropped, nor dropping: and such are the difficulties in English orthography, that it sometimes requires more than ordinary skill in the art to determine in what cases the final consonant should and should not be doubled on adding ed or ing. To illustrate this, we select the word blot, which requires double t, as blotted, blotting; whilst in the verb bloat the t is not doubled, but is written bloated, bloating: also in the word differ, the final consonant is not doubled, but is written differed, differing; whilst in the word defer (to delay) it is doubled, as deferred, deferring. In the word abstract the final consonant is not doubled, as abstracted, abstracting; whilst in the word admit it is doubled, as admitted, admitting. Again, in the word distil, the consonant is doubled on adding ed or ing, as distilled, distilling; but in the word detail it is not doubled, but is written detailed, detailing.

These terminations have sometimes proved so perplexing, that ladies and gentlemen of superior mental attainments, in writing their letters, would often have been delighted if at the moment they could have put their hand on a book of reference like the present, and been relieved from the difficulty; but for the want of it they have been obliged to write the word almost at a guess, without any certainty in their own minds as to its correctness. In this particular, then, the present work will be found invaluable; for it imparts a two-fold advantage: it not only gives the word properly spelled, but the reason is also annexed to every word why it is so spelled; and there never has been yet any work published conveying this double information; so that a person accustomed to look out the words a few times only, and referring to the rule at the beginning of the work, denoted by the figure annexed, will, in a few days, become so skilled in orthography as no longer to need the assistance.

RULES

FOR

SPELLING THE PARTICIPLES OF VERBS, AND SUCH WORDS AS ARE NOT FOUND IN DICTIONARIES.

Note.—For the information of those who have not received a scholastic education, we observe that the vowels are a, e, i, o, u, and y, and also w when it follows another vowel, and that all the other letters in the alphabet are consonants.

1st RULE.

All words ending with single e omit the e when ing is added; as, abate, abating, embrace, embracing, write, writing.

The following eight words are the only exceptions, namely; dye (to stain) dyeing, eye eyeing, hoe hoeing, shoe shoeing; singe singeing, swinge swingeing, springe springeing, and tinge tingeing; for without the e in these last four words, their sense would be ambiguous, as we have no other means of distinguishing the participles singing, swinging, springing, tinging, from the participles singeing, swingeing, springeing, and tingeing except by retaining the e.

Note.—As the above rule relating to verbs ending in e has no exception, save the eight words above-mentioned, it is not considered necessary to insert words of that class in this book.

Digitized by Google

2ND RULE.

Words ending with two consonants never double the last consonant on adding ed or ing; as, abstract abstracted abstracting, lament lamented lamenting, mourn mourned mourning.

Note.—The above rule is without a single exception.

3RD RULE.

Words ending with one consonant, preceded by two vowels, never double that consonant on adding ed or ing; as, clear cleared clearing, entail entailed entailing, wean weaned weaning.

Note.—This rule has no exception.

4TH RULE.

All words of one syllable, ending with one consonant, preceded by one vowel, always double that consonant on adding ed or ing; as, drop dropped dropping, spot spotted spotting, beg begged begging.

Note.—The above rule is without exception.

5TH RULE.

All words of more than one syllable, ending with one consonant, preceded by one vowel, and accented on the last syllable, always double that consonant on adding ed or ing; as allót allotted allotting, infér inferred inferring, refér referred referring, submít submitted submitting.

Note.—This rule has no exception.

6TH RULE.

But words of the same kind as described in the preceding rule, not accented on the last syllable,

Digitized by Google

do not double the last consonant on adding ed or ing; as, bállot balloted balloting, díffer, differed differing, límit limited limiting, wórship worshiped worshiping, qúarrel quarreled quarreling, inhábit inhabited inhabiting, empánnel empanneled empanneling, cóvet coveted coveting, réason, reasoned reasoning.

Note.—The following words, however, are deviations that have been made by some of our best writers, though arbitrary and contrary to the rule, and that have been strictly condemned by Lowth, Walker, Webster, and Perry, as erroneous.

Apparel, apparelled, apparelling.
Ballot, ballotted, ballotting.
Barrel, barrelled, barrelling.
Benefit, benefitted, benefitting.
Bevel, bevelled, bevelling.
Bigot, bigotted, bigotting.
Billet, billetted, billetting.
Cancel, cancelled, cancelling.
Carol, carolled, carolling.
Carpet, carpetted, carpetting.
Cavil, cavilled, cavilling.
Combat, combatted, combatting.
Counsel, counselled, counselling.
Cudgel, cudgelled, cudgelling.
Dial, dialled, dialling.
Dishevel, dishevelled, dishevelling.
Drivel, drivelled, drivelling.
Duel, duelled, duelling.
Embowel, embowelled, embowelling.
Empannel, empannelled, empannelling.
Enamel, enamelled, enamelling.
Equal, equalled, equalling.

Fidget, fidgetted, fidgetting.
Gambol, gambolled, gambolling.
Gospel, gospelled, gospelling.
Gravel, gravelled, gravelling.
Grovel, grovelled, grovelling.
Hatchel, hatchelled, hatchelling.
Jewel, jewelled, jewelling.
Kennel, kennelled, kennelling.
Kernel, kernelled, kernelling.
Label, labelled, labelling.
Level, levelled, levelling.
Libel, libelled, libelling.
Marvel, marvelled, marvelling.
Model, modelled, modelling.
Parcel, parcelled, parcelling.
Pencil, pencilled, pencilling.
Peril, perilled, perilling.
Pilot, pilotted, pilotting.
Pommel, pommelled, pommelling.
Postil, postilled, postilling.
Quarrel, quarrelled, quarrelling.
Ravel, ravelled, ravelling.
Revel, revelled, revelling.
Rival, rivalled, rivalling.
Rowel, rowelled, rowelling.
Shovel, shovelled, shovelling.
Shrivel, shrivelled, shrivelling.
Snivel, snivelled, snivelling.
Trammel, trammelled, trammelling.
Travel, travelled, travelling.
Tunnel, tunnelled, tunnelling.
Unkennel, unkennelled, unkennelling.
Unravel, unravelled, unravelling.
Unrival, unrivalled, unrivalling.
Victual, victualled, victualling.

Vowel, vowelled, vowelling.
Wainscot, wainscotted, wainscotting.
Worship, worshipped, worshipping.

It should be observed that, although the foregoing are deviations from the rule which have been adopted by some writers, yet they are liberties that ought not to be sanctioned, being directly opposed to orthographical rule and to proper accentuation—they are deviations without a reason.

Dr. Lowth, in reference to these deviations, has justly remarked—"this error frequently takes place in the words worshipping, counselling, &c., which, having the accent on the first syllable, ought to be written worshiping, counseling, &c.

And Walker says—"An ignorance of this rule has led many to write bigotted, for bigoted, &c., and from this spelling has frequently arisen a false pronunciation; but no letter seems to be more frequently doubled improperly than l. Why we should write libelling, levelling, revelling, and yet offering, suffering, reasoning, I am totally at a loss to determine."

Dr. Webster thus condemns the practice: "Verbs ending in a single consonant, not accented on the last syllable, ought not to double the final consonant in the derivatives. Thus limit, labor, charter, clatter, pardon, deliver, hinder, have for their derivatives limited, laboreth, chartered, pardoning, delivering, and hinderest. But, strange as it may seem, the rule is wholly neglected and violated in most of the words of this class ending in l, in which that consonant is doubled, in opposition to one of the oldest and best established rules in the language; and I have endeavoured to reduce these classes of words to a regular and uniform orthography. What should we say to a man who should write auditted, alterring, laborreth, banterred? yet no good reason can be assigned why the final consonant should not be doubled in these words as well as in ballotting, cancelled, worshipping, apparelled, &c. The truth is, the syllable to be added is the usual termination ed, eth, or ing, and nothing more. And not less remarkable is the practice of doubling the last consonant in equalled and equalling, but not in the verb equalize; and, to add to the inconsistency, the last consonant is sometimes doubled in tranquillize, a word in exact analogy with equalize."

Mr. Perry, also, in his dictionary, lays down the rule for spelling such words in the same way as Dr. Webster.

We think it right to observe that all consistent writers should give their decided opposition to this devious current in orthography.

7TH RULE.

All words ending with y preceded by a consonant, retain the y on adding ing; as, spy, spying, deny, denying; but when ed is added, the y is changed into i; as, spy spied, deny denied; and when s is added, the y is changed into ie; as, spy spies, deny denies.

Note.—This rule is without a single exception.

8TH RULE.

Words ending with y preceded by another vowel, on adding ed, ing, or s, do not change the y into i; as, delay delayed delaying delays, annoy annoyed annoying annoys; save only the four following words: lay laid, pay paid, say said, affray afraid.

Digitized by Google

9TH RULE.

All words ending in ie change the ie into y on adding ing; as vie vying, die dying, lie lying, tie tying.

Note.—This rule has no exception.

10TH RULE.

Words ending with a double letter, or with a, o, or w, always retain the same on adding ed or ing; as call called calling, agree agreed agreeing; huzza huzzaed huzzaing; echo echoed echoing; allow allowed allowing.

Note.—The above rule is without exception.

The foregoing rules are all that relate to the verbs and participles in this Appendix; but as the plural of nouns and the degrees of adjectives are not found in dictionaries, the rules for spelling them, although not strictly appertaining to this work, are inserted in this place merely for guidance in the art, and are as follow:—

11TH RULE.

The plural of nouns is formed by adding s to the singular; as, hand hands, spoonful spoonfuls, horse horses.

12TH RULE.

Nouns which end with s, ss, ch soft, sh, x, i, o, and oo, form their plurals by taking es, excepting those ending with io, as, James Jameses, mass masses, church churches, sash sashes, rabbi, rabbies, alkali alkalies, potato potatoes, calico calicoes, cuckoo cuckooes. The following are the only justifiable exceptions to the rule: embryos, nuncios, borachios (drunkards), pistachios (pistich nuts), seraglios, olios, oglios, braggadocios, folios.

Note.—All such words as junto, tyro, solo, quarto, octavo, duodecimo, should be conformed to the rule and spelled thus: juntoes, tyroes, soloes, quartoes, octavoes, duodecimoes, like cargoes, echoes, embargoes, porticoes, tornadoes, bravadoes, inuendoes, volcanoes, negroes, heroes, mottoes, grottoes, stillettoes.

13TH RULE.

All names or nouns ending with y when preceded by a consonant form their plurals by changing y into ies; as, Henry Henries, Mary Maries, cherry cherries, lady ladies, fly flies; but if a, e, or o precedes the y, then the plural is formed by adding s only; as holiday holidays, valley valleys, attorney attorneys, joy joys, buoy buoys.

14TH RULE.

Adjectives ending with y preceded by a consonant form their degrees of comparison by changing the y into i; as, early earlier earliest, merry merrier merriest, happy happier happiest. But if a or o precedes the y the y is not changed; as, gay gayer gayest, coy coyer coyest. But nouns and adjectives ending with y, upon taking ish, ism, or ite, do not change the y; as, dry dryish, tory toryism, Derby Derbyite; and the y is always omitted in adding ist, as votary votarist, except the word copy, which may be written either copist or copyist.

Digitized by Google

15TH RULE.

All adjectives ending with a single consonant preceded by a single vowel, double the last consonant on adding er est, or ish; as, hot hotter hottest, thin thinner, thinnest. But if two vowels precede, the consonant remains single; as, sweet sweeter sweetest.

THE DICTIONARY APPENDIX.

Note that some few verbs and their participles are omitted, it being considered impossible that there can be any difficulty in spelling them; such as the verbs rush, mix, perplex, &c.

Observe that the figures at the end of the words refer to the rules at the beginning of this work.

Also observe that all verbs ending with e are omitted in this work, as the only difficulty in spelling them is on adding ing, when the e is invariably omitted, except in the eight words mentioned in Rule 1.
